The Luxury of Sophisticated Comfort

“My work is all about designing for my clients to live in their homes,” says Nathalie Ducrest. “Their home is their home. It’s not a decorator’s showhouse.”

Since 2003, Nathalie has been designing some of the most breathtaking interior spaces throughout Boston. With a strong European network, she imports many pieces that add a special flair to her clients’ spaces. And while she holds a special affinity for one-of-a-kind lighting and unique fabrics or textiles, she’s equally as passionate towards traditional pieces.

“I’m always searching for original items, but at the same time, I place premium value on the traditional and sentimental pieces my clients cherish,” she says.

Highly intuitive, Nathalie says her clients often describe her as someone who immediately understands their vision. “When you step into my spaces, you know they’re lived in. They don’t exist to be a canvas,” she says. “During this time of quarantine, so many of my clients have called me to say how much they are enjoying living in their space. This is the essence of my work.”
